Date Effective	26-March-2013
Review Date	26-March-2016
Policy Owner	Chief Information Officer
Category	Operational
Version Number	2.0
Content Enquiries	archives@monash.edu
Scope	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All campuses in Australia • Monash South Africa • All staff • All records created or received by the university in transaction of its business • All functions and activities carried out by the university
Purpose	The University seeks to access and manage its records effectively, and is obliged to create, maintain, preserve and dispose of records to comply with legislation and codes protecting public records, privacy and evidence (as listed in the Related Legislation and Related Documents sections below). This policy explains the requirements of the University's records management program and outlines staff responsibilities to create, maintain and lawfully dispose of corporate university records. It also endorses the preservation of records in the University Archives.
POLICY STATEMENT

A full and accurate record of activities of the University will be created, captured and maintained in systems with appropriate recordkeeping functionality and controls.

As the "officer in charge of a public office", the Vice-Chancellor is responsible for ensuring that the University complies with legislative requirements for recordkeeping.

All managers and supervisors are responsible for monitoring staff under their supervision to ensure that they understand and comply with records management policies and procedures. Managers and supervisors are also responsible for fostering and supporting a culture within their workgroup that promotes good recordkeeping practices.

All members of staff are required to create, capture and appropriately manage records relating to their work, regardless of the format of the records and including records of decisions made and actions taken. Records will be maintained (stored and preserved) in conditions suitable to the length of time they need to be kept and made available for use. This applies regardless of the format of the records or the media they are stored on.

Records and archives will be made available within the constraints of security, confidentiality, privacy and archival access conditions.

Records must only be destroyed in accordance with disposal policies, procedures and guidelines issued or approved by the University Archivist. Records must not be destroyed if they are required, or are reasonably likely to be required in current or future litigation.

Records to be retained permanently are to be transferred to the University Archives for long term preservation and access.

All systems for recordkeeping (technology and work practices) must enable essential recordkeeping functions:

- Creation and capture in the context of the activity recorded;
- Protection of integrity and authenticity;
- Appropriate access and use;
- Security from unauthorised access and use;
- Storage over time; and
- Lawful and complete destruction or retention as an archival record.
